What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files that a website places on your computer, tablet or mobile phone when you visit the website. Information about your website visit is stored in these cookies. In general, a distinction is made between functional and non-functional cookies.

Functional cookies

Bizzgames makes as little use of cookies as possible. We only use one functional cookie that enables you to stay logged in during your visit to the website. You can recognize this cookie by the name "bgs" or "bga". The cookie does not contain personal information, but only a randomly generated identification code with which the session can be recognized after your login. The use of this cookie is necessary for the functioning of the website. We therefore do not need to ask you for explicit permission to use this cookie.

Non-functional cookies

Non-functional cookies include cookies that are used for analytical purposes, tracking mechanisms, marketing and social media. Bizzgames does not use non-functional cookies.

Block of remove cookies

Using your browser settings, you can choose to block or remove certain cookies. It is important to note, however, that after blocking the cookie from Bizzgames, you can no longer log in to the website. After removing the existing cookie, you will have to log in again with a new cookie.

The help-function of your web browser or, for example, the following website, explains how you can block or delete cookies in different browsers:
